

Introduction

1. Congratulations on graduating this year! This will be your final report for the QUEST.
2. Please submit this completed form to quest.report@ice.org.uk by Monday 22 October 2018.
3. QUEST is supported by many charitable donors and ICE members so we would like to be able to share your achievements and progress with those that support the scheme.

Guidance for Section A

1. Personal information

You need to indicate if you are a QUEST-Only Scholar or company sponsored. If you are sponsored, please state your company name.

2. Contact details

It is important that we hold up-to-date contact details for you so that all future correspondence reaches you. We recommend checking and, if necessary, updating your contact details via MyICE.

3. Post-graduation employment details

If you have been successful in securing a graduate job (yay!), please give details of your new role so that we can keep a record of the destinations of QUEST Scholars. If, as part of your scholarship, you were sponsored by a company but did not join them on graduation, please make sure you give a full explanation why this was the case, as it is an expectation of the scholarship scheme that QUEST Scholars will join their sponsor company upon graduation. If you are currently job hunting or have alternative plans (continuing education, volunteering, travelling, taking a year out etc.), please explain what your plans are.

Guidance for Section B

4. Academic results

Please provide your results for your final year and give your final degree classification.

Guidance for Section C

5. Main report

Please reflect on what you have learnt and achieved during your time as a QUEST Scholar. Please review the guidance below (photos are welcome!)

(i) Your experience as a QUEST Scholar

When completing this section you should consider the points below. You are not expected to address all of these points, but should cover some of them and aim to write at least 300 words.

- The most important experiences of your time at university and during summer work placements
- What went particularly well or badly
- How you have been challenged
- What skills you have gained
- What your biggest achievements have been
- Your academic performance
- What important lessons you have learnt (remember that many lessons are learnt from making mistakes and it is important to include these experiences)
- Reflections on what you might have done differently
- How your experiences may affect you in the future
- How recent experiences have impacted on your awareness of and involvement with civil engineering
- How the scholarship has helped you

(ii) Goals for the future

Taking into consideration the points below, describe what your goals are for the future now you have graduated. You should aim to write at least 150 words.

- What your aims, objectives and plans are in the short, medium and long term
- Why these objectives are important to you
- How your experience has affected these objectives
- Whether you are planning on becoming a professionally qualified Civil Engineer
- If you have secured a graduate role, what you hope to achieve through this

(iii) Scholarship feedback

If you have any feedback on how we can improve and develop the scholarship we would welcome this. This could be on any aspect of the scholarship or your experience.

Guidance for Section D

6. Activities promoting civil engineering and the scholarship

You are required to participate in a minimum of three activities that promote civil engineering and the scholarship over the course of your degree. Please only list the activities you participated in during the previous academic year. Please explain where and when the activity took place and, if it was organised through an organisation such as ICE, STEM Learning, academic partnership, your old school/college etc. You should also describe the nature of the activity, your personal involvement and how the activity promoted civil engineering/ICE/QUEST.

Submitting your report

All reports should be named as your 'Surname_Firstname' (e.g. Smith_Jo) to quest.report@ice.org.uk.

If, as part of your scholarship, you were sponsored by a company please forward a copy of your report to your mentor/manager at your sponsor company.
